

PCMI Receives “Leaders in Administration Software for F&I Products 2019 – USA” Award from Acquisition International

PCMI’s administration platform, Policy Claim and Reporting Solutions™ (PCRS) automates the full lifecycle of all aftermarket products

PCMI Corporation is proud to be the recipient of the award for “Leaders in Administration Software for F&I Products 2019 – USA” as part of the Global Excellence Awards distributed by Acquisition International.

The Global Excellence Awards are a yearly program that recognizes and rewards firms and individuals who have demonstrated an outstanding performance in leadership in their industry. The in-depth award selection process is conducted by AI’s in-house awards specialists and research team, who carefully decide the chosen firms based on their proven performance over the past 12 months, guaranteeing that all those who receive an award truly deserve their place among the year’s winners.

PCMI is the leading provider of integrated software solutions for Extended Warranty management and F&I administration. Through the modular platform of PCRS, customers can utilize each module individually to enhance their current systems or implement all at once as a complete solution. The company designed their system to empower their customers and give them the ability to build and define their own products. This flexibility of PCRS has provided solutions for many different types of companies, from major corporations to small, four-employee companies. With a real passion and commitment to technology, PCMI sees themselves as more than just a software provider — they strive to be “Your Technology Partner” by taking the time, energy, and effort to customize their systems and meet their clients’ individual needs.

“It’s an honor for PCMI to receive this award and to be recognized as a leader in innovation for F&I products. We’re constantly aligning our development to keep up with the evolving buyer patterns and dealership demands for quick information access. As a result of years of building an experienced team of industry leaders, our clients have confidence that we understand their business and they can rely on us for solutions,” said Mark Nagelvoort, President and CEO of PCMI Corporation

PCMI is featured in a one page article in Acquisition International magazine that includes an interview with Nagelvoort.
